UNION REPUBLICAN RATIFICATION. SPEECHES BY THE HON. EDWARDS PIERREPONT, GOV. HAWLEY, E. DELAFIELD SMITH, AND

OTHERS. The large hall of the Cooper Institute was crowded last night with people who went there to listen to the spokesmen of the Republican party, in ratification of the nominations made at Syracuse. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags, and at regular intervals were hung the scoats-of-arms of the different States. Upon the platform facing the audience were prominent mbers of the Republican party, whose presence in force gave spirit and vigor to the meeting. Among the number were the Hon. Edwards Pierrepont, ex-Senator Morgau, Gen. P. H. Jones, Gen. Sigel, Gen. John Cochrane, Col. Geo. B. Van Brunt, Rufus Andrews, esq., James B. Taylor, esq., Gen. H. A. Barnum, D. D. Conover, esq., tsinclair Tousey, Major James Haggerty, and many others. A military band, ere the meeting was organized, played national and operatic airs, and filled the intervals between the speeches to the evident satisfaction of the audience, and that peace, unity, and security will soon again biess our whole behaved country.

Fifth: That the so-called Democratic party, decked in atolen livery.

"ins been weighed in the balance, and found wanting." In this city, its record is one of dishonor and disprace. It has imposed upon us grievous ances for the maintenance and support of our Cric Government, and in sectors given us the worst governed city in the world. It has created a great number of needless sinceurs offices, endowed with large salaries, so order that the favored satellites of "the Ring might fatten at the public crib. It has polluted the Judiciary by the election of Judges who have aided and abetted the perpletation of wholesale frauds upon the selection franchise, and screened and protected the violators thereof from punishment. In a word, it has shown itself wholly unworthy the conductor of a free people, and ougst to be heried from power, and consigned to an oblivion that has no resurrection.

Loadily: All hall loval the Vermons of the glerious and fertile West, that massalishle Gibraliar of Republicanism, with her countless major actions for freedom has spoken. Equal honor to the yeomanry of the Bucker's State, who have just aloughed off and discarded every vestige of regulationing Democracy. The Kerstone State has also stoken, and her glad notes of victory are waited on every breeze. The Empire State, now held to vassalage, solery through starting frands perpetrated upon the ballot-box, must and shall be redeemed, and be again restored to its free position among the Republican States of the Union.

A gentleman was their introduced who sang "The Star Spangled Banner" with fine effect, the audience joining Spangled Banner" with fine effect, the audience joining in the chorus, and being encored he gave " The Sword of Bunker Hill." The Chairman, in a few words, introduced Geu. Hawley of Connecticut, saying that New York State could claim the honor of such a stanch Republican and brave soldier. After the loud demonstrations of approval with which the General was received had subsided, that gentleman came forward and said he hoped the Committee will show in the campaign the industry and perseverance they exhibited that day in capturing him. [Laughter.] He had been very reluctant to come, though he was very glad to help the cause with his share of talk, but he had never addressed a New-York audience, and he was afraid of them. He should like to study up two weeks to know what to talk about before thaving the audacity to step upon that platform. He said be had been examining the Demo-eratic platform, which they had this year adopted. Their cratic platform, which they had this year adopted. Their platform generally began with "We view, with alarm, the steadily-increasing Republican majorities in Congress," &c. [Laughter.] It was the same old story this time. Of course they arraign the Administration, and clamor for peace. But if they, the disturbing element, won't keep quiet, they will never have peace. If there is resistance to the Government, it does not come from the Republican side. He read some of the long-winded sentences from the platform, and showed its absurdity, and how that party was striving to dishonor the Government. He had faith in the people, and pointed to President Grant's record. He had no doubt that they would poil a large vote this year, even if it is, as Mr. Greeley says, "the off-year in politics." In spite of the local dissensions we have won Pennsylvania, Iowa, and Ohlo. They have indorsed Gen. Grant, and have been carried by sheer force of integrity in the Administration. Of course the Democracy reaffirm gornger piedges. They protest against states being denied representation, etc., and just as they were opposed to veereion when the Southern States wanted to secede, so they taik now. They spoke against emancipation, and now they docialm and wish to ignore the national debt. Of course they bitterly oppose the Thirteents, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments of the Constitution, and we should not wonder if they oppose the flood, for they go backward without limitation. And then they had the impudence to point to history for their "devotion to the interests of the Government, and their integrity to the Constitution." The speaker showed how false this was, and said that to the soldiers Rebels at their front were nothing to the men pulling at their coat tails during the war. There were some things in the document in question, however, which pleased him very much. He was delighted to learn from it that the Sham Democracy were "unawervingly loyal to the Constitution." He was very giad of it. Of course, then, they would anyther th platform generally began with "We view, with alarm the steadily-increasing Republican majorities in Con-

The Hon. Tom Fitch of Nevada was introduced by the Chairman, and upon coming forward was enthusiastically received. He said, of all the questions which the war produced, the questions of whether the black man snust be secured from oppression, and the public debt must be secured from oppression, and the public debt from dishoner, are now the most important. The Republican party has adopted these questions in the affirmative, as a principle in its onward march to victory. We must give the black man his rights, and maintain our national credit and honor. [Applains.] The principles of the Democratic party, ever since the war, as an example for consistency, has no parallel in the world. When advocating a financial policy, it produces Beimont as head-waiter to dish it up, with Hoffman's biathering and Pendieton's plan for repudiation to complete the feast. In California, coolic labor is heartily denounced, and it. Mississippi it is earnestly sought; yet it is all one party. The attitude of the Democratic party is very much like the thief who, arraigned for robbery, when called upon to answer to his indictment, replied: "I am noither guilty nor not guilty, your Honor: I simply want the matter dropped." The Republican party gave Grant to the army; it gave Parragut to the navy; it gave Lincoln to history. These are the men it has given to the country, and such are the pictures it has traced. (Applause.) Let the great Empire State unfurl its banner and announce to the world its determination to close a nation's prosperity to that of supporting a corrupt ring now fostered in its metropolis. The speaker closed his short speech by an eloquent perroration amid tremendous applause.

Gen. John L. Swift was next introduced. Upon coming

Gen. John L. Swift was next introduced. Upon coming forward he said: I recently came from Pennsylvania. I found there two candidates for the highest position within the gift of the people of that State. The one bragged that, although he was worth millions, he never had loaned a dollar to the Government of the United States. He spread this broadcast throughout the State. I could not see how any one could vote for Mr. Packer under the circumstances. The people of the Keystone State have come to the conclusion their Governor must be made of a different material. Great appliance.] I compliment Pennsylvania in her election of Gen. Geary. [Applause.] Let the great State of New-York follow her example. With the great name of Cosmopolitan as well as of a national man—that of Sigel—heading the ticket, with that great champion of freedom and glant of intellect, Horace Greeley [great applause] to strengthen it, it should and must succeed in the coming election. The speaker interpolated his short speech with amusing anacdotes, illustrating the doctrine of repudiation urged by the Democratic party, and closed amid great cheering. The Hon. E. Delafield Smith was then introduced. He spoke as follows: forward he said: I recently came from Pennsylvania. I spoke as follows: REPUBLICANS OF NEW YORK: One year ago you met in this hall as you neet to-night. From early evening till midnight's solemn hour, one name inspired your songs, your speeches, and your cheers. The hopes of that day

Simplifier A military band, ere the meeting was organized, played national and operatic airs, and military band and poeratic airs, and military band, ere the meeting was organized, played national and operatic airs, and military band, ere there are the operation of the orthogen and the control of the orthogen and the control of the orthogen and the control of the of confidence. Thirdly. That he often absents himself from the capital, and mingles among the people, to ascertain their wants and sentiments for himself, instead of receiving everything at second hand from self-constituted political advisers—thus again copying President Washington, who took slow stages through the South, through the Middle States, and through New-England. at a time when travel involved an absence of months, where days only are now required to perform the same journeys. Fourthly. That in making appointments to office, he has not (as has been well said) revived the miracle of the five loaves and two fishes, and given fifty offices to 5,000 applicants. He has moreover committed the crime of preferring his friends to his enemies—Hepublicans to Democrate. Men of New-York! The people of the nation at large believe that last Autumn your great State ought to have been recorded for the Union leader and his patriotic associates. Let our vote this year discourage all attempts to overwhelm or count it down. Your State ticket is headed by a name of national reputation—of cosmopolitan fame. It was a glory to fight "mit Sigel." It will be an honor to vote for him. The organizing and working Republican Democracy of our city are rejoicing in the leadership of Daniel D. Conover. The generous and vigorous men of the State at large, unrestrained by party ties, are rallying to a banner which bears many good names, but one prefinnent; a synonym for honor and honesty, for justice and courage, for industry and intellect—I allude to Horace Greeley. [Applause.]

After the close of Mr. Smith's speech the Chairman

After the close of Mr. Smith's speech the Chairman arose and announced that, in consequence of the lateness of the hour, there would be no further speaking. The meeting then arose, and with one voice gave three rousing cheers for the candidates on the State ticket, and dispersed, the band playing "Home, Sweet Home."

ANOTHER BALLOT FOR SENATOR - NO ONE ELECTED.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 20 .- The Legislature met in Convention to-day, and ballotted twice for a United States Senator. The last ballot stood: Johnson, 41; Etheridge, 29; Cooper, 5; Ewing, 4; Priton, 6; Fletcher, 12; N. S. Brown, S; Milton Brown, 2. Two members were absent. Necessary to a choice, 54. Johnson fell off two votes. It is considered certain that Johnson has done his best. Much indignation is expressed by the opposition in regard to interference for Johnson by outside parties. Henry Cooper is thought to be the coming man. He is the Senator from Davidson, and a brother of the late Private Secretary of Johnson.

The New-York Staats-Zeitung, the leading German Democratic daily of this city, in commenting upon the Tammany nominations, says: "To our regret, we must say that these nominations do not satisfy us in all respects. The candidate for Supervisor, although not the candidate of the 'Ring,' is still no candidate in the interests of reform, as we would have desired. One of the candidates for the Bench cannot receive our support for reflection. We could not urge him for election the first time he ran, and would have looked upon his re moval from the slate as a step in the direction of reform, which is recognized as so essential to the administation of justice on our bench."

OBITUARY.

THE HON. J. E. WALSH.

The Cable brings us intelligence of the death of the Right Hon. John Edward Walsh, the Master of the Rolls in Ireland-as the equity judge having the custody Rolls in Ireland—as the equity judge having the custody of all charters, patents, commissions, deeds, and recognizances is designated. The deceased gentleman was born in 1816, educated at Trinity College, Dublin, and called to the Bar in 1839. He was made Attorney-General for Ireland in 1866, and Master of the Rolls in October of the same year. He was for a part of that year member of Parliament also for the University of Dublin, resigning his seat upon accepting the last-named office. He is favorably known in the profession of the law for two or three useful legal works, and in literary circles for an entertaining volume entitled "Ireland Sixty Years Ago," published in 1847.

ROBBERY AND ATTEMPTED MURDER.

At 11 o'clock last evening, Officer Gambunn, ssisted by two other officers, arrested John Smith and Rose Prince, at the house No. 28 Broome-st., Newark, and lodged them in the Station-House. They were held to await examination upon a charge of assaulting and robbing John Conradi, who, by some means, had been induced to enter the house, and who was found on the sidewalk, at about 10, bleeding profusely. In reply to questions put by the officers, Conradi stated that he had been beaten in the house; that he had been robbed of his watch and money, and that he believed he had only saved his life by escaping from his assailants. Conradi has a frightful gash upon his head. Rose Prince, at the house No. 28 Broome-st., Newark,

THE ERIE STRIKE.

The strike of the artisans belonging to the Eric Railroad has almost ended. Its last ripple has not died away yet, but the commotion is subsiding so rapidly that in a short time there will be no trace of the late disturbance. The determination of the men, at first so strongly expressed, has nearly passed away. In Buffalo the men are still out, as is announced by a dispatch received late last night; in Susquehanna all hands were at work yesterday. At Dunkirk there was no strike, though some statements represented that there was. In Jersey City almost all the men are back. Authoritative information was received yesterday evening that 110 of the strikers in Jersey City worked yesterday, and that some dozen or so more will go to work to-day. From the same source it is learned that the men there have become well satisfied, and will give no further trouble. There is no doubt but the men generally are now tired of the strike, and have either applied or will apply immediately to be admitted to their usual employments. The shop at Port Jervis is closed up, and will probably remain so, at least for some time. All the men will hardly be taken on again. Those who shall be left out in the cold are the only ones who will really suffer the penalties of the late meeting. strongly expressed, has nearly passed away. In Buffalo

THE ERIE RAILWAY COMPANY DO N'T PAY REGULARLY.
To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: Will you allow me to contradict a statement in your issue of this morning in regard to the trouble on the Eric Railroad purporting to emanate from Mr. Rucker, General Superintendent of the Road! It Mr. Rucker, General Superintendent of the Road! It is: "It is customary to pay them (the workmen) on the 18th." Now. Sir, to prove the faisity of this statement I will say that excepting the Jersey City shope, the shops on this road have been paid very irregularly during the last eight or ten months, and repeated applications have been made for a regular pay day, and they have been made in vain. On the 29th September a committee of one from each of the shops, Buffalo, Susquehanna, and Jersey City, waited on Mr. Brooks, requesting an interview and respectfully demanding a regular pay day, stating plainly the trouble, inconvenience, and absolute loss that in many cases occurred by reason of having no stated day for pay. Mr. Flak, as I have before stated, received us kindly and granted our demand, stating, with an oath, "the men earn their money, and they shall have it." On reaching Susquehanna on the 30th, the paymaster being there, I received my pay for August, and in the face of Mr. Rucker's statement in to-day's paper, let me say that the men in the shops named have not been paid before the 20th for the last eight or ten months, or since Mr. Maybe, our late paymaster, ceased paying us, and very often we received our pay as late as the 28th, or even the 30th, and once during the above time we were paid for May on July 3, although we professed to celebrate the 4th on that day.

New-York, Oct. 20, 1869. W. Cockayne Frith.

THE UNION LEAGUE OF AMERICA. A meeting of the National Executive Committee of the Union League of America was held yesterday, at the St. Nicholas Hotel. There was a good attendance of members. Gov. Newell of New-Jersey presided, in the absence of Gov. Geary. The Secretary, Mr. Baker, of New-York, read a report of the arrangements for the elections in Mississippi and Texas. Some important arrangements for the election in New-York State were reported, and the victories in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Iowa were alluded to with gratification. Various measares in aid of the elections about to transpire were adopted, and the Committee adjourned, to meet at the call of the Chair. Movements are on foot for a thorough revival and reorganization of the Union League.

THE NINTH-AVE. HOMICIDE.

Coroner Keenan yesterday held an inquest at No. 540 Ninth-ave. over the body of Patrick McGuinness, whose death from violence at the hands of Joseph R.

James, has already been given in The Tribune. From the statement of the prisoner's wife and others; it appears that the deceased and his wife, who had been pears that the deceased and his wife, who had been a possible of the prisoner's wife and others; it appears that the deceased and his wife, who had been a possible of the prisoner's wife and others; it appears that the deceased and his wife, who had been a possible of the prisoner's wife and others; it appears that the deceased and his wife.

drinking to excess for a considerable time previous, quarreled in their apartment on Monday evening, and, coming to blows, James attempted to separate them. Mediuinness then turned on him and caught him by the throat. He was pushed away by James, and, returing to the assault, was struck by the latter, knocked down, and kicked. It was not supposed at the time that he was much injured, but on Tuesday he became worse, and died on that evening. James declares he had no intention of injuring the deceased. Dr. Wooster Beach made a post-mortem examination of the body, and ascertained that death had resulted from a rupture of the intestines, the result of violence. The jury rendered a verdict "that the deceased came to his death from peritonitis, the result of violence at the hands of Joseph James." The prissner was committed to await the action of the Grand Jury. Deceased was a native of Ireland, aged 75 years. The Coöperative Building Association, organized a few months ago under the anaplees of the German Cabinet Makers' Association of this city, has proved a great success. From the report of the Board of Directors, it appears that the laying out of the lots will be commenced next month. The Society has expended $46,000 for the property compfising Section 1, and still have $9,381.98 in bank. Section 2, which is composed of $13 lots, is yet to be disposed of. The annual Fair of the Sussex County (N. J.)
Agricultural Society commenced at Newton yesterday, but owing to the coolness of the weather, and on account of it being the first day, very few persons attended.
Three trois came off, but in each instance the prize was so small, and the time made so poor, as not to make them attractive. The Fair is to be continued for two days, and during that time a better show may be made.

MISS ANTHONY'S SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION

Miss Anthony wasn't present. Neither was Mrs. H. B. Stanton. The Providence Convention claimed their care and had it. The ladies came in with a meek, noiseless manner rather unusual. The rooms gradually filled with bright-haed silks and satins and dainty plumes. Several members discussed the call published in yesterday's TRIBUNE with some acerbity. "Oh, did you see that ! A genuine Suffrage Association! Isn't it awful!" Nobody seemed inclined to talk, and Mrs. Phelps remarked that it was a pity that nothing could be said because Miss Anthony and Mrs. H. B. Stauton wern't there. She thought it a good opportunity for other ladies to make their malden speeches while those were absent. She herself had found that she was disinclined to speak before them. Mr. Ward, "a gentleman from California," a ponderous and gray-haired convert, desired the ladies to expatiate upon their doctrines for his especial benefit. They didn't know much about such things in California, he said. Nobody spoke, and Mrs. Phelpa observed that they should'nt depend so much upon regular speakers; they couldn't have Miss Anthony all the time. Just such embarassing contingencies as this must arise as long as all the ladies didn't accustom themselves to talking. She explained in brief that they intended to arouse the indifferent and the sluggish.

Mr. Andrew Jackson Davis, who said he had come to "meet a man from New Haven." was then introduced. He remarked that he had left Mary in Orange busily engaged in writing something on this question. I know of no woman more earnest than she. I can't say that she converted me. My ideas first came from a different source. Mary has been from the first an advocate of the largest development of woman. I have always advocated the perfect equality of man and woman. Mrs. Eliza Farnham always insisted that women were better than men, but I believe in a perfect balance. In the divine government they will be perfect and eternal equals.

Mr. Ward, the "gentleman from California," desired the Association to notice the late section of the Pension Bureau. Widows who had remarried, or were living with men, were deprived of their pensions. It is nothing to Govornment whether they are married or not. Government has no business to interfere with their personal concerns any more than it would have to interfere with mine. Won't the Association take some steps regarding this! Mrs. Phelps agreed with Mr. Ward in the main, but I hought it was not in the province of the Association to dictate to the Government. Mr. Peck, Editor-in-Chie could be said because Miss Anthony and Mrs. H. B. Stauton wern't there. She thought it a good opportunity do. But I know women who take care of their husbands, who have farms, and who work on them, and have arms as strong and heavy as mine.

Mr. Peck remarked that these must be exceptional cases.

Mr. Ward—Well, yes, exceptional; but I know little things I could toos to the ceiling that have more endurance than I. He thought the democratic form of government had failed.

Mr. Peck said that he came around to see Miss Anthony the other afternoon, and promised her to be present on this occasion, but he didn't understand that he was expected to make a speech. If they had any other business to attend to, they had better attend to it. It wasn't worth while to claim the attention of the audience, however small it might be. He was very much interested in the subject. Greatest question of the times—one of them. One revolution gave its our Government, a second gave freedom to $1000,000 or $1,000,000 men, women, and children, and the third must come in women auffrage before there is perfect freedom. He didn't understand what the California gentleman meant by his exceptions to the democratic form of Government. He believed that the democratic or rather republican form of government was going to work out the saivation of the party individual to the saivation of th RIDGWAY—At Paterson, N. J., Oct. 20, Wm.
